Kinetics Noise Control Launches HealthGuard Antiseptic Acoustical Panel

Engineered for physical and mental well-being, acoustical comfort meets microbial transmission prevention

Dublin, OH, January 28, 2021 | Kinetics Noise Control Inc. (Kinetics) is proud to announce the launch of HealthGuard, an antiseptic acoustical panel that assists in combating the spread of viruses and bacteria, including the novel coronavirus.

HealthGuard products feature antimicrobial and bleach cleanable finishes, making it the perfect sanitary sound solution for any environment from daycares to waiting rooms to restaurants.

HealthGuard comes in two acoustical core options: HealthGuard and HealthGuard UI. The new HealthGuard panel features a polyester core with no VOCs or formaldehyde binders. The Ultra-Impact resistant facia of HealthGuard UI can stand up to kids, carts, and overall daily abuse making it ideal for high traffic areas. HealthGuard UI is one of our highest impact rated panels. At home in daycares, hallways, and waiting rooms, HealthGuard UI is the perfect sanitary solution for environments brimming with activity.

“We are proud to be able to offer this new line of products that designers can use to help keep busy environments safe,” says Ben Hickey, Kinetics Room Acoustics National Sales Manager. “We know there is a demand for this product line, and we can’t wait to see how these panels will be used to keep people safe and healthy!”
